Last Rites Saturday For Mrs. Minella Kaiser

By Mrs. Fielden Frederick
A sad death to cast a gloom over the community was that of Mrs. Minella Kaiser, wife of Mr. Clifton Kaiser, who passed from this life last Thursday morning, September 28, at the Baptist Hospital.

She had not been in the best of health for several years, but was full of energy and was nearly always up and about her household duties. She was always ready to help others in time of need. Not only will she be missed by her family, but by her church, neighbors and many friends.

Besides her husband, she is survived by two daughters, Ann Elizabeth and Kathleen Earl; her mother, Mrs. Anna Resch, and one sister, Mrs. Armond Alvis.

The funeral was conducted Saturday afternoon from the McAfee Funeral Home with Reverend Lawrence, of Bluebell Presbyterian Church, in charge, and interment took place in Resthaven Cemetery. As was spoken at the funeral service, "She did more than her duty."

Jell'town Victors Despite Difficulties

The "Battle of the Cornfields" was fought at Taylorsville Sunday, and the Jeffersontown baseball team emerged victor by the score of 10 to 8.

On a diamond surrounded on three sides by a cornfield, the rightfield corn was only 50 feet behind first base, the local team came from behind by scoring five runs in the fifth inning and three in the sixth to down the Spencer County boys.

Strained by the conditions under which they had to play, and the type of umpiring they received, the Jeffersontown team played their most aggressive game of the season. They played hard, clean baseball and were here since suffering from last Friday, at his home, 2630 Pine Avenue.

Dr. Tindle, who beat them 5 to 3 here on September 14, again defeated them at Taylorsville. Rhea Jean Hester, of Jeffersontown, was touched for 17 hits, most of which went into the tall corn in rightfield (Taylorsville has five left-handed batters).

Due to injuries suffered by Rhea Jean and Maurice Trautwein, Donnie Hester made his debut with the senior team by playing second base. He started off the five-run rally in the fifth inning with a sharp ground single to right field. Clyde Hayden got the five-run rally in the fifth inning with a sharp ground single to right field. Clyde Hayden got the five-run rally in the fifth inning with a sharp ground single to right field.

Plans Ready For New G. I. Eye Headquarters

By Marshall Floor, Jr.
Post Finance Officer
On Friday, September 26, the G. I. Post No. 344, of the local American Legion received the deed to the property which they recently purchased from the Jeffersontown Frozen Food Locker Plant. This property is to be used for the permanent headquarters of the Post.

A building will be erected that can be added to later. This building will be 40 by 90 feet, built of concrete block. Plans have been drawn for this building which will include the memorial to the war dead.

The Post is extremely proud of this purchase, as it is a great step ahead that they have been looking forward for a long time.

At the last election of officers, Harry W. Neal, Jr., was appointed Service Officer by Commander Robert M. Smith. This position requires knowledge of legal matters, and as an attorney, he is adequately capable of filling this office.

The 1948 membership campaign will begin after October 1, and all new members and old members, are urged to join the Post. We feel that in recently purchasing our new headquarters, we are offering great opportunities to the vets, and more and bigger plans are being made for the future.

At a recent meeting held by all Posts of Jefferson County and Louisville plans were made for assisting in the return and burial of the war dead whose bodies are being brought back to their home land. The bodies of our fallen soldiers will be met at the airport and then at request of the families, or next of kin, a military Legion will meet the escort and the body and return it to the home of the family, and will conduct a military funeral. This act will only be carried out, if the family wishes the person to have a military funeral. This Post will perform these rites for any of the war dead whose bodies are brought back by their families so desire. William Kennedy is chairman of the Burial Committee of the G.I. Joe Post. The Post is anxious to see that these returned war dead are given proper rites that they desire. If you are a member of this Post, you will know that this Post is capable of administering the proper military services.

Until our new building is ready for occupancy, the G.I. Joe Post will hold its meetings on the first and third Friday nights of each month in the Jefferson County Building on the Taylorsville Road just beyond Jeffersontown.

The series will begin on Friday evening, October 3, and will be held on the first and third Friday evening thereafter until the November election. Each of these programs will start at 8 p.m. and will be carried over station WHAS.

Senator Cooper will open the series Friday evening, when he will discuss the Taft-Hartley Labor Act passed by the recent Congress. Congressman Morton will also discuss the labor issue on the following next Tuesday evening.

State Campaign Chairman C. I. Ross stated that other radio programs would be announced from time to time.

FRIDAY OCTOBER 3, 1947

MAY THE INDEPENDENTS VOTE TOO

The opening gun has been fired in the Kentucky campaign to elect a Governor at the November election. The race is on among the candidates and the party leaders as they whoop 'em up with their respective appeals to the voters.

Although it goes against the grain for the party elements to get together, after a factional fight such as the recent primary meant to both parties, differences were patched up fairly well, at least for the "duration." Outraged the boys in both camps of both parties are good friends once more.

During the primary election campaign this newspaper urged the voters of both parties to do their best to select candidates of dependable ability and integrity, and such as would be the least hampered by political elements that have obstructed good government in the past.

As for the Democrats, we believed that the Waterfield step offered the more promising ground for a Democratic victory. But the voting Democrats of Kentucky decided in favor of the Clements program.

Although the Republican candidate, Attorney General Eldon Dummit, has a good record and, in our opinion, is much in his favor to contribute to an unlettered administration our Democrat friends insist that this is a "Democratic year." So it may be, that if that wing of the Democratic party which suffered defeat in the August primary casts its lot unreservedly with the Clements forces and lends its whole-hearted support in the present campaign, that, of course, would be party loyalty to the nth degree.

There are, however, a growing number of independent voters in Kentucky who really hold the balance of power in the general elections. Results in November, therefore, depend much upon the appeal both side make to that group.

Partisan politicians and Democrats can be counted on to vote under their respective emblems, as usual, in the November election. We are hoping that the independent voters will be at the polls too and assert themselves as to their choice in the contest.

Letters to the Editor

REMEMBER GOODWILL

A gentle reminder to the women of Kentucky. Not only are skirts longer and more dainty in styles you have dresses coats and hats out of style and you can not wear them.

Goodwill industries can take these garments clean and remodel them to fit some of the styles which are greatly in need of just what you are discarding. The joy of purchasing these garments in the goodwill store for a price these folks can afford makes them very happy and thankful to you and Goodwill that makes this possible.

Others who are blessed by their thoughtfulness are the workers at goodwill industries who would not have a job but for the folks who remember to send all their discarded materials to help carry on this great humanitarian work.

Come and see the transformation in materials also the workers who are being trained and rehabilitated, earning while they are learning in the goodwill sheltered work shop.

Come and visit this work shop at 214 South Eighth Street, Chapel services every except Saturday and Sunday at 11:30 a.m. lunch in Goodwill cafeteria 12 noon. Call WA. 5221 for reservations and you will receive a cordial welcome.

MATTIE LEE WOODS, Field Secretary.

A NEW CONVENTION?

The writer has been requested by the Committee organized to oppose the calling of a Constitutional Convention, to prepare some articles giving the reasons why they are opposing this movement. The writer knew a number of the prominent members of the Convention which framed the present Constitution. He was fortunate in hearing a number of the vital issues which were debated Phelps, Samuel English, and Dr. M. K. Allen, all of Louisville and Jefferson County.

The writer believes that those who are promoting this movement, principally, are animated by a desire to promote some selfish or group interest, more than they are to serve the best interests of the masses of the State, and that for that reason he will endeavor to give the sovereign voters of Kentucky a few sound and tangible reasons why they should vote "no" on the proposal to call a Convention to adopt a new Constitution.

WALLACE A. MCKAY.

READ THE BIBLE

Christ, the people, beware, take heed to Bible prophecy, II Peter 1:19. For it points out that many (millions) of church people shall sin against the Holy Ghost, in this our day. But, it need not be you.

What is the sin against the Holy Ghost? It is to deny the Holy Ghost, to be led in religion, contrary to the Holy Spirit, by self or others, or ignoring Him who should vote "no" on the proposal to call a Convention to adopt a new Constitution.

The words of Jesus, "I never knew you," "I know you not," in Matt. 7:23 and 25:12, means "I had no dealings with you." In other words, "I did not know you by My Spirit into all truth, nor has He shown you things to come, as per John 16:13 to 16:22, and as per II Timothy 2:25-26.

"I warned you of the false prophets, which come to you in sheep's clothing, but inwardly they are raving wolves, and will devour you (millions)," Matt. 7:15-23, 24:11, 24, 48-51.

"In My love letters to you, you were shown how to test them to see if they were true or false. I told you, I John 4:1-21, 26:11-19, Isaiah 8:20, Rev. 12:17, 14:12, and you found in your hearts that your duty to point it out to them, as they did with the Baptist in the days of Paul," Acts 18:24-26, 19:1-7, and as per II Timothy 2:25-26.

"And when I sent My servant, Elijah, into the world before this dreadful day of Mine, and the cry was raised against him, 'False prophet, he believeth not in Me, and caused others to believe the cry, and did not know My servant,' he accused me, and did not know My servant, and as per II Timothy 2:25-26.

"I told you, I John 4:1-21, 26:11-19, Isaiah 8:20, Rev. 12:17, 14:12, and you found in your hearts that your duty to point it out to them, as they did with the Baptist in the days of Paul," Acts 18:24-26, 19:1-7, and as per II Timothy 2:25-26.

When we first met him, he had been the trusted right-hand-man of the proprietor for years. Wearing an apron much too long, but none too big around, he bustled about the spacious store with an air of efficient complacency.

It chanced one day when Father was up to get some supplies that no other customers were in the store, and the "boss" had gone to dinner, so the little fellow with the big apron and the sober paper were together alone. Suddenly the clerk stepped over to Father, who saw that his usually cherubic face was grave. He laid his hand on Father's lapel and glanced around the store before he began to speak.

"Mr. Stuart," he began, "I want to tell you something so that if you ever come up to town and find me missing you will know the reason—I am a hunted man." Then he told of having found it necessary, many years before, to kill a man. "It was either him or me, and I got there first," he related. He did the deed coolly, he related. "No bad blood or anything like that." After the deed, he had fled, a fugitive, became a hobo, and circled the country a couple of times, riding the rods in the keeping of each succeeding "gentleman of the road." Finally, feeling that he had shaken off pursuit by the law—no FBI, existed—then he settled down in this little town to earn a living, as he had done before circumstances developed which, according to him, forced him to become a hobo. "If I ever think of the time I was chasing with me," he added, "you won't find me here any more, but you will know why anybody else does."

It was years later, after I had grown up and we had moved from state to state, that I learned before Father related this story to me. One day, however, a person from that old pastorate of Father's visited us, and I inquired if the little round man still worked in the general store. "No," came the reply, "he suddenly left town one day and nobody knows where he went or what he was doing. He left just like he came."

use of such foods. People of what doctors designate as the "spastic type" should fight shy of coarse, undigestible matter in food. It is a case of "one man's meat, another man's poison," for roughage in the intestines of spastic persons actually sets up inflammation. For the "spastic type," undigestible stuff is highly desirable—they can stand a lot of "fodder." Before loading up one's system with coarse foodstuffs, it would be well to find out which group it is to which we properly belong.

BETTER REVELATION
Lessons for October 5, 1947

WITH Sunday's lesson we turn into another field of Bible study for the concluding chapter of the year—messages from the Epistles, other than those of Paul.

This lesson, and the next two, are from the Epistles to the Hebrews, one of my favorite books in the Bible.

The passages of study for this lesson are Hebrews 1-2; 8:4-13, with kindred passages in Matthew 2:16, 17 and John 14:1-11. Suggested devotional reading for the lesson is Hebrews 4:14-16.

Dr. Newton The title of the lesson has reference to the Hebrews, of course, to Christ—the better revelation of the Son of God in His appearance to bring the father's plan of redemption into full effect.

The Father's Son "GOD who at sundry times and in divers manners spake in the past times by the prophets, hath in these last days spoken unto us by His Son, whom he hath appointed of all things, by whom also he made the worlds," chapter 1, verses 1 and 2.

"And Jesus, when he was baptized, went up straightaway out of the water; and, lo, the heavens were opened unto him, and he saw the Spirit of God descending like a dove, and lighting upon him; and a voice from heaven, saying, 'This is my beloved Son, in whom I am well pleased,' Matthew 3:16, 17.

"Could there be a more beautiful and impressive manifestation of God's acknowledgment of Jesus Christ as his Son?"

Love is the Key THIS better revelation of Jesus Christ, we find that love is the key that opens the door into the brightly lighted room. "The father loved the son, and hath given all things into his hand," John 3:35.

Love is the key that is ever so with all the revelations which God makes of himself to his trusting children.

And this revelation of God in Jesus Christ carries the further truth that "all things" have been placed in the hands of His Son, our Saviour. We read elsewhere that "all things consist in him," which means that all things hinge on him—the Holy Spirit, Jesus said.

It is not a picture of passive love, but a picture of perfect love in action, manifesting itself in his administration. Again we can say, "This is our father's word."

Christ Reveals God NOT only does Christ reveal himself, but also the father, for they are one. Reading now into the second chapter of the Epistle, we find

KILGORE SUPPORTS DEMOCRATIC TICKET

Request that some be sent to the Knap Crippled Children's Home, and the to Nicholas Hospital. Mr. Will Reader, Mr. Byron Reader, Mr. Scott and Mrs. J. H. Shirley sang at the funeral by request of Brother W. C. Kilgore was at the organ. Bro. Claude Reader, an old friend of Mr. Sunday, conducted the funeral and a more impressive and comforting service I have never heard; he also prayed a beautiful prayer at the grave.

Mr. J. S. Hart was an all-day visitor of his sisters in Newburg Thursday. We always enjoyed him so much, he is interested in everybody also in the church.

Mrs. Joe Haring and little granddaughter, Gale Lannert, were brief visitors of Mrs. Calvin Hart Wednesday morning.
